Leave my satellite radio alone. If you take satellite radio away, then you might as well take satellite TV. What's the difference. Being a person who lives in a rural area, satellite is the only way that I can get good reception for both TV and radio. How would you like to live with nothing but talk radio and country music. For radio, that is all you get if you live in the country. Satellite radio gives me more choices. I pay for both satellite radio and TV. Do not support NAB's petition 04-160. I do use the weather and traffic information. What's the harm?
